Before I officially quit Internet Archive and BitChute for good, I just have so much to say about leaving Justin's server and all of my social media. Social media isn't about blackmailing or giving anyone the victim of the whole community that was talked about on YouTube. You know, not ALL communities are bad. But there is something about social media that I should have been told about. It's about being grateful for what friends you have and how much you care for them. As you can see, I didn't mean to blame and nitpick minor things about what people's lists have since they were on BitChute only if they have flaws such as having problems with people's opinions to call them "innocent" because some people were in the bad zone out of people's unpopular opinion. Though I wouldn't recommend doing that because Sean Caino got away with liking Diesel (A Car's Life) even though she is a p3d0ph1l3 in a kids movie. And that is where my redemption is here since I remember watching Dom's call-out video to Sean Caino where it has my script back in 2023. I can't put it past if Sean Caino likes Jared Shapiro, Allegro, King Sandy, or any irredeemable p3d0ph1l3s from kids media. So what's the point of showing people's past lists and nitpick a minor thing (Unless if it's an IRL criminal or a failed Austrian painter, that's problematic)? And what's to blame someone for starting trends? In fact, I didn't mean to leave the Internet Archive over one hate comment Dom and Graham sent me about Riley's 1000 new music. I didn't know Matti Chenier is my #1 yes man without my flaws I caused to be such a twist villain to see if I can be like Conor all along. These are as follows; my profile picture, bringing up pasts, reversing people's lists IBoth being Riley and Adrian P), and especially my whole lists in general. I mean, you can't be a good person without your flaws and not take it into a bigger problem. How could I turn myself from alright at best to INSUFFERABLE within time? The entire social media isn't about drama and getting called out for something THAT small, such as Justin copying Conor's history, seeing Alex's questionable images, and many more. I guess making By The Things List isn't such a good idea at all. And I attended to keep it that way until you still make them. So it's safe to say that you can still be friends with me even if I did something wrong, I sinned. Maybe you won't forgive me and celebrate me leaving the internet is all? Just at least call me out for something that I did wrong such as not leaving Riley alone, since Kenny, Zach, and I were responsible for the whole Riley leaving the internet thing. I shouldn't have made up communities such as The Riley Community only because people do the same opinions and past stuff after what Riley did ever since he left the internet only because he was accused of "p3d0ph1l1a". I just didn't want to be left desperate or alone since my world would be better off without you guys, but I was wrong. All I did was just bully on the internet, that's it. I'm not doing anything illegal in real life. And I'm not attacking anyone at all. This whole social media is about saying nice things and being very careful on what you are doing on the internet because if you do something on the internet, then it's there forever. So even if my fanbase is toxic as hell, I can change the whole thing to a better world. From now on, I'll be kind and confident and careful on what I do on the internet and social media. At least I'm not irredeemable unlike Saxon or Gabrielle Foster or Thomas Barnard or Sean Lowe. And I definitely regret siding with Saxon the whole time because he did YKW to a real life dog (Smile Dog). Even if you view me as irredeemable, I still have my friends holding in my heart. And no, I'm NOT compared to criminals like Ian Watkins, 6ix9ine, Chris Brown, or anyone in real life. So, Graham, I was wrong about your past self the whole time since I rather erase the past from seeing lists or people in the whole social media. I just think you were all right about the whole deadzone community and how you feel about it. And songs I used in my lists were just full of cringe-including when it comes to edits and stuff. Since I'm all Ebenezer Scrooge by turning myself into a dream follower and a grumpy, desperate man into a kinder, warm-hearted joyful man. I wonder what my future visions will be like if I was still the way I was in the past and believe me, you don't wanna go there. Since all my content is the same, my lists are always the same, and everything about me is the same. And Dom, I didn't mean to blame you for starting the whole reversing opinions list, it was Conor all along who started the reversing people's opinions list until Jorge and I joined along until we regret making that decision. And bringing up people's past was all the things that were not necessary in the first place. Conor started the whole "it's okay to bring up people's pasts" thing until I now realized it was wrong. If I didn't have done it to Graham, nothing would have happened until Sean called me out for all the deplorable things I've done. In fact, I didn't mean to act all angry to Sean for the whole "2021 1000 BTNL" only because Amy was at #280 since I was 16 when I did that. But I'm 21 and I know better not to bring up people's pasts or start too much drama and end up betraying the whole BTNL community people to fit my new personality after reversing my 900 V1 BTNL (Sean, Jorge, Drake, Justin, Graham, Dom, Nathan, etc.). Speaking of BTNLs, with the exception of my 1300 BTNL, all my lists don't age well at all. My 1200 BTNL is filled to the brim with KND characters, losing thoughts on certain media, boring soundtrack, and many more. If I were to make another BTNL, I'll try my best to not do the same boring and tiresome crap over and over again. But I doubt it would happen since that would still be me living in the Samdan sheep after Conor called Sean out in 2024 for being the same. Not to mention my BTNLs have some opinions that I forced myself to like/hate on a few characters, especially the latter. I also regret making my 2nd channel St. Robot to talk to you guys to pretend I wasn't really talking to you anymore. And I regret saying that Sean would sue me if I brought up Conor's 900 BTNL where Numbuh 3 is at #368 and lied about being sexist to girls. Though to be fair, I did not act sexist to anyone in real life, only cartoon characters since they're "fictional". And my half-assed apology in July wasn't genuine enough since I pulled off a Conor on YouTube. This apology I made when I last had YouTube was so short and not even close to genuine, most of it was like less than 10 sentences and I tried my best to improve my apology as much as possible. So, even with the meaning of all the things I have done from 2019-2025 and what my lore would be like, I deeply regret everything I have done from what has happened this year and what promises I can make from now on. For all the actions I have done since I acted like a Scrooge in 2025, I am deeply sorry and I mean, REALLY sorry for all the trouble I caused this year on YouTube, BitChute, and Internet Archive. Since 2025 was already a horrible year to cause drama about me, sending hate and rude things about me, and treating me like a punching bag. At this rate, you should start being respectful to me or say something positive about me instead of taking the negative way around, and I'll start being respectful to you guys. I wish you all a Merry Christmas and HOPEFULLY have a better new year in 2026, not to call out any user you see and nitpick minor differences or small things and just ignore what happened, that includes me. Clown all you want about Alex and Andrew, but nothing can get you anywhere better. I don't care what anyone would do to me, like putting me on dark red-red alert on their lists (I don't recommend adding me in any BTNL's since I want NOTHING to do with them) or any of that. I wouldn't care if Conor would call me out for copying his past history and clowned my lists as well (Though I don't recommend my fake-ass AVS 2017 lists because some BFB images are from 2018 and not 2017 and that would prove that I copied Conor, even though Conor is gone now). Try not to clown around too much on me like what you did with Conor. And Sean or anyone around social media, please delete every hate post against me and callouts about me to avoid more drama against me since this is starting to make me say “I can’t take it anymore”, thank you. And Riley, I don’t know if you can come back to the internet just to forgive me and probably hate me for what I did to you, but I’m sorry for celebrating you leaving the internet to please Kenny by reversing your 1000 BTNL. In fact, I hate Kenny myself. Now as a 21-year-old, I should take responsibility for my actions and what consequences I should take. I also deleted Riley's 1000 music change video and I don’t know if it would be re-uploaded. And Adrian P, I’m really sorry for reversing your 1200 BTNL only because they don’t have names or emotions. I just have my anxiety and future brain vision and follow some dreams. Share this on Discord or social media, if you please. But for now, I’m gonna go hang out with my new friends that I recently met, which are the Barney Error people. Because I just love making Barney Errors for my entertainment. Heck, I even spammed Barney Error parts 300 times on a 3K Chance Barney Error project. Goodbye.